WE TRY NOT TO FOLLOW
THE NORMAL
PERCEPTION OF HOW TO DO THINGS

Whether the project is for residential or commercial usage, our focus is on the design being "architecturally correct" for the style of architecture that is desired.

The style and plan still must fall within the budget. Many architects and designers design plans for a project only for the owner to find out that they can't get it done within the budget. Afterwards they must pay more to redesign to what some call "valued engineering" the project to get it in the budget. Most times this results in a sacrifice to the design, durability or profitability of the structure. We look at the impacts like workflows, durability in the design the first time.

SunCraft Design Build, Inc. can help you design and build a project that is architecturally correct, profitable, durable, and is a problem-free structure in budget the first time.
